We would further like to know the below from your regarding your dll.
1. Is your dll built using Microsoft interop library?
2. Will it crash if there are more than 3 requests parallely or we will have to queue the requests one after the other?

Customer

Hello,

Thanks for your sample PPTX file.

We suggest you may download a trial version of PowerPoint to Video Converter Command Line from this web page first,

https://veryutils.com/powerpoint-to-video-converter-command-line

Please make sure your system has Microsoft PowerPoint 2010/2013 or later application installed. After you download it, you can run following command line to convert your PPTX file to Video file properly,

"c:\users\admin\desktop\ppt2videocmd\ppt2video.exe" -i "c:\sampleanimations.ppt" -o "c:\sampleanimations.wmv"

D:\ppt2video\pptvideo.exe D:\MiPwP.pptx D:\SampleAnimations.wmv

After you get the wmv video format, you can run following command line to convert wmv video to other formats easily, ffmpeg.exe -y -i SampleAnimations.wmv -c: v libx264 -crf 23 SampleAnimations.mp4

You can call both ppt2video.exe and ffmpeg.exe applications from your C# application to convert a PPT or PPTX to WMV and other video formats easily.

You can call these EXE applications from IIS without any problem.

If you wish convert more PPT/PPTX files to Video files at same time, you need design a queue, all conversion files will be pushed into this queue, and then convert them to Video files one by one.
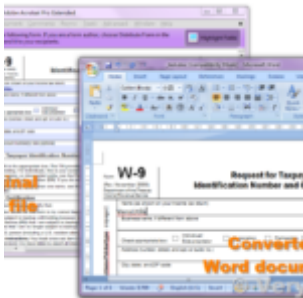

Thank you.

Regards.
