

MP4 files are used to store and watch videos, while MP3 files are used to store and listen audio. The MP4 and MP3 file formats have the same lineage, they all come from the File Compression Experts Group (MPEG) format. In addition, in terms of attributes, the MP4 file format and the MP3 file format are very similar. The only major difference between the two is that the MP4 format is used for video and the MP3 format is used for audio.

The conversion between the two formats is very simple. The MP4 file format contains both video and audio, while the MP3 file format contains only audio. In this case, simply strip the video content to convert MP4 files to MP3 files. However, the process of converting MP3 files to MP4 files is not smooth, because it is usually impossible to add videos to audio files and convert them to MP4 files. Many different applications and programs are designed for the Windows operating system, which can convert MP4 files to MP3 files.

VeryUtils Video Editor software is a Windows software, which can convert lots of Video formats to lots of Audio formats, such as,
